Golight, Inc. introduces the Gobe™.

Culbertson, NE—August 12, 2009:

Golight, Inc. a leading manufacturer of remote controlled and handheld searchlights has introduced the Gobe™ wireless remote control searchlight. The Gobe™ offers the ultimate in safety, portability and ease of use meeting the demands of sportsmen/women at a price that won't break the bank.

The searchlight rotates 360 degrees while tilting 90 degrees allowing you to deliver the bright, 1,000 lumen/80,000 candela light beam wherever you may need it making it easy to illuminate whatever you are searching for. Whether checking food plots at night, backing a camper into a camp site or just trying to track down your kids that stayed to play in the park too late. The Gobe will be the handiest auxiliary light you own.

The wireless handheld remote offers 16 different security settings and has an effective range of 25 feet allowing use of the light from almost anywhere in or around your vehicle.

The sleek low profile design helps minimize overhead hazards while the flexible magnetic base quickly and securely holds to the vehicle's roof well up to and including highway speeds. The Gobe™ connects quickly to any 12volt dc automotive cigarette outlet and can be stowed away in its heavy duty nylon carrying case until it is needed.

The Gobe™ retails around $179 and carries a one year limited warranty.

Based in Culbertson, NE Golight, Inc. is a leading manufacturer of remote controlled and hand held searchlights for marine, outdoor, military, industrial, fire, law enforcement, automotive and agricultural applications. For additional information please call 800-557-0098 or visit www.golight.com
